

Easy win for Smith

One thousand students voted

By Chuck Mahaleris

A little over a thousand students voiced their choices for political office during last week's Student Government Association general election. But the voice rose into a veritable deafening roar of support where Senator Jim Smith was concerned.

Smith, an amiable figure on campus, easily had the reins of control from the start of the voting for the post of Student Trustee. Capturing nearly twice as many votes for the much sought-after position as his nearest opponent, Peter Norton, Smith was delighted with his win. "I was elated. Five students running made it a strong and exciting competition."

Tom Kershaw, former Editor-in-Chief of the Connector, expressed why he and many students supported Jim Smith. "I think that I supported Jim Smith because I saw that he had the highest level of quality and commitment to the position. I voted for Jim because of his outstanding dedication to the needs and concerns of the students."

Ryan wins big

Also capturing a win during the general election was South Student Information Center Director Charlie Ryan. Ryan, clad in his Opus the Penguin sweatshirt and blue jeans, stressed during his campaigning that he wasn't a politician. "I ran because I felt Smith went on to speak about the year ahead. "The biggest impact from my term will be in communication. The students will know what is going on in and around the university. It's very important that students know about the proposed tuition increase, the expansion of ULowell, and any other events that will impact their college the students needed someone who knew what was going on around campus. They needed someone who was aware of what they really wanted done."

Ryan spoke candidly during a Connector interview of his plans for the coming school year. "I'm going to be tough on senators and class officers. They were elected

Campus cops install call boxes

By Peter Bernard

The University's Campus Police now have in place three Emergency Radio Phone Call Boxes. These radio phones can be used to contact the Campus Police Dispatcher directly who can then direct assistance to your location. To operate the unit you simply pull down the exterior handle which opens the door and pick up the receiver, you will then be talking with the campus police. Also all police personnel with radios will hear your call. The radio phones are currently located at the Lovejoy Parking Lot on South Campus, the Riverside Parking Lot and at the Southwick arches on North Campus. There are plans to install more units at a later time

20,000 unknowing students in 20 campuses to be tested for AIDS

(CPS) — About 20,000 students on more than 20 still-unnamed campuses will be tested for AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) during the next 12 months, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta announced last week.

The students, however, may not even know their blood has been tested.

Under the plan, the campuses will forward to the CDC the 1,000-or-so blood samples they take from students as a matter of course during the school year.

The CDC, adds University of Virginia health service Director Dr. Richard P. Keeling, will then test the samples for the presence of the H.I.V. antibody, indicating whether the student has the AIDS virus.

The virus systematically destroys victims' immune systems, rendering the victims vulnerable to infections and illnesses that typically prove fatal within 2 years of diagnosis.

Students will not be informed of the test results.

The results, Keeling — who also heads the AIDS task force of the American College Health Association — explained, would produce "the first actual data about the frequency of H.I.V. in-

CAMPUS SHORTS

Greek brawls

A running war between two fraternities has convinced Indiana U. to cancel all dorm social events for the rest of the school year.

The cancellation came through a memo from IU Dean of Students Michael Gordon last week due to scuffles and rumors of planned future fights between members of Kappa Alpha Psi and Omega Psi Phi at some scheduled mixers and dances.

Another fraternity "war" broke out at the State University of New York at Plattsburgh in late February, when about 20 students from Pi Alpha Nu and Alpha Chi Rho battled each other in a violent disagreement.

Oddities stolen

A bizarre crime wave washed over two campuses during the last week in March.

At U. Penn., police arrested two students who took a $20,000 Zamboni, the strange-looking machine that resurfaces ice rinks, for a 5-block joy ride.

And at the U. Texas at Austin, police charged the grandson of a campus legend with stealing a page of Albert Einstein's handwritten notes from a locked display in a UT building.

Police recovered the page in the off-campus apartment of Samuel Royal, 18, grandson of former football coach and athletic director Darrell Royal.

The notes were estimated by a UT librarian as being worth "a couple of thousand dollars."

Authorities at U. Penn. are reportedly trying to come up with a monetary figure for the damage done to the Zamboni.

Chinese students ordered home

Chinese students at U.S. campuses protested last week that they want to keep going to college here.

Some 800 Chinese students from various campuses around the U.S. signed a petition and held a protest rally at MIT last week to object to a new Chinese government mandate to force thousands of them to return home.

"It is a bread-and-butter issue for me," said Zhang Longxi, a 40-year-old Harvard doctoral candidate, at a press conference after the MIT meeting. "I need time to study comparative literature."

Conservative Premier Li Peng fears too many students are being "infected" with Western ideas, and will impede policy when they return home.

After 3 years,
Spring Carny returns to ULowell on April 29th, 1988.

CIA recruitment stirs controversy at UTexas

(CPS) — Police arrested 2 University of Texas students March 23 for passing out anti-CIA flyers during a campus lecture by Arthur Hulnick, the Central Intelligence Agency's chief college recruiter.

Similar leaflets were handed out 2 nights later, when former CIA agent and now CIA critic John Stockwell spoke on campus, but no arrests were made.

Andy Smith of the Texas Union Board, however, said the people who handed out flyers during Stockwell's speech "have been informed they are in violation" of the school prohibitions against such handouts inside the lecture hall.

"Our (recruiting) visits have stirred protests among students that are opposed to the policies of the administration," Hulnick told the March 23 crowd of 800, adding that "we're not the ones they should be protesting."

"They'll listen," he said, "they really will."

Students at the universities of Dayton, Vermont, Southern California, Washington, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Louisiana State University, among others, rallied and conducted sit-ins to halt CIA recruiting on their campuses during this school year.

The fallout from the protests, which have increased in size, frequency and militancy since the 1986-87 academic year, continues.

In fact, a week before both Hulnick and Stockwell took the debate to Texas, an Iowa City judge acquitted 19 University of Iowa students of criminal trespass charges levied when they tried to disrupt an October, 1987, CIA recruiting visit.

Some 35 University of California at Santa Barbara students, moreover, will go on trial April 19 for temporarily occupying — and trashing — UCSB Chancellor Barbara Uehling's office in November to protest the hiring of CIA agent George A. Chritton, Jr. as a political science teacher.

To settle the dispute, UCSB eventually agreed to appoint Chritton only as a visiting professor.

As the dispute heated up in Texas in late March, UT lecturer and CIA officer James McInnis had to deny publicly he helped recruit students for the agency.

"I have the phone number (of the recruiter)," McInnis told the Daily Texan, the campus paper, "and I'll give it to them. I don't want to be in the recruitment loop at all."

Head recruiter Hulnick also denied any of the CIA agents in its Officer In Residence program — in which agents lecture and research at various campuses — are enmeshed with recruiting students.

Unknowing AIDs testing

fection among students, who are increasingly considered a high-risk population."

Keeling said the CDC won't release the names of the schools participating in the study, hoping to preserve students' privacy.

Colleges, University of Maryland Health Center Director Dr. Margaret Bridwell said in early March, typically aren't very good at preserving it.

Public law, she said, demands that Maryland's health clinic personnel record all the medical procedures they perform, including blood tests.

She suggested that students worried about confidentiality get their AIDS tests at county facilities instead.

In February, U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop told a London AIDS conference he wanted to test all the students on a chosen campus for the disease to see how far it has spread among young people.

Since the disease often is transmitted through sexual contact and collegians tend to have multiple sexual partners, Koop considered students might be among the Americans most likely to engage in risky behavior, Keeling explained.

The plan to gather blood samples from the 20 campuses, he added, is a "refinement" of Koop's original proposal.

to do a job and part of that job is attending Senate meetings. I feel that more can be accomplished if they come to the meetings and come prepared to work."

Pahl vs Pappleacos

The closest race of the two-day votings was between Senator Geoff Pahl and SICcie Steve Pappleacos. Prior to the election it was thought that Pahl's experience as senator would ensure him a win, but Pappleacos' constant personal campaigning awarded him the extra 160 votes and the position of Student Government

Vice-President.

Running unopposed were Timothy Carolan for SGA Treasurer, Jack Demers for AC Director, and the ever-jovial Sandy Gogol for her second year as SGA Secretary.

On a campus where apathy holds the strongest of political camps, it was encouraging to see the voting turnout higher than last year's instead of lesser as had been the trend in previous years.

Elections are the vital link students hold to determine how their voices are to be heard and who is to speak their words.

Stevie Ray Vaughan brings his blues to Lo

By Randy Edgar

Stevie Ray Vaughan's high-octane, full-throttle approach to the blues must be heard, seen, and felt in order to fully comprehend. His two hour exhibition on Saturday, April 9 was more than enough to enlighten a capacity audience at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. On selections ranging from originals to covers of Howlin' Wolf, Jimi Hendrix, Stevie Wonder, and the Beatles, Vaughan displayed his incredible control of feedback, volume, and his ability to simultaneously play rhythm and lead using endless runs of chords, riffs, hammer-ons, pull-offs, and unusual tricks.

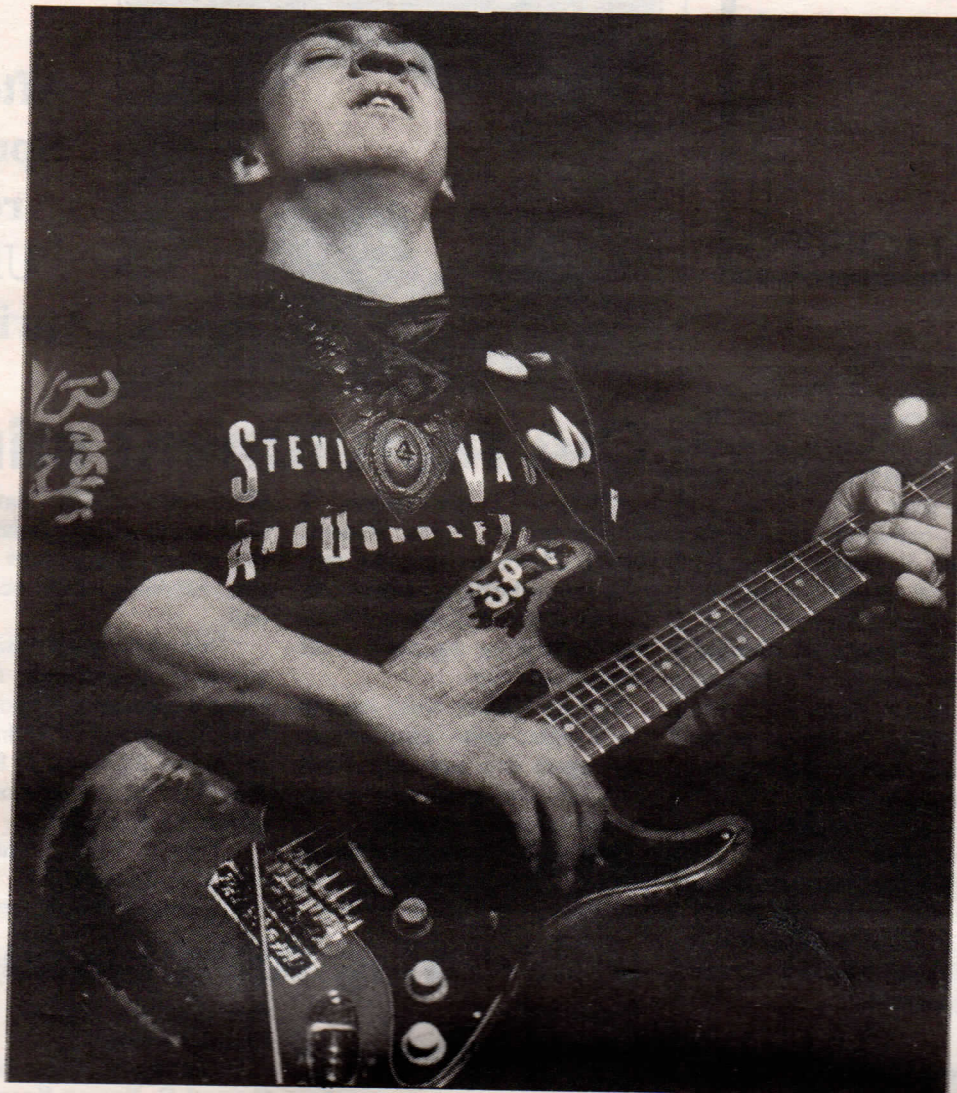

Backed on keyboards, bass, and drums by his band Double Trouble, Vaughan got things off to a lively start with "Testify," a blistering blues instrumental, and "Say What," featuring wah-wah peddle use reminiscent of Hendrix. As these songs demonstrated, Vaughan's performances are a unique mix of emotion and showmanship. His playing has all the intensity and emotion of the blues, yet he also has a streak of flamboyance: playing the guitar behind his back during the extended "Texas Flood" solo, teetering on the edge of the stage and violently shaking the guitar during "Come On (Part III)," and nonchalantly ending a climaxing solo as he starts to sing. Here, ending the solo makes sense musically, but visually it is entirely unexpected, thus adding to the dramatic effect.

Vaughan seemed fresh and rejuvenated, perhaps because this is one of the first stops on his current tour. Particularly strong were his vocals, which may have encouraged him to rely less on the volume/feedback effects and simply concentrate on playing hard, as he did for most of the show.

The rejuvenation may also be due Vaughan's parting with drugs. "I forgot you're supposed to go home from the party," he explained during the melodic "Life Without You." "You can't run away from yourself."

Despite the obvious excitement, Vaughan and crew no longer match the intensity they had as a three piece. The addition of keyboardist Reese Wynans eliminates the need for Vaughan to play at full tilt all night, something that makes for a less exhilarating performance, but is also less exhausting. During the extended piano solo on "Looking Out The Window," Vaughan directed the spotlight back to Wynans when the keyboardist had not finished taking the lead. Vaughan obviously prefers having someone to trade solos with.

This is not to suggest that he has lost his touch. The encore of the classic Hendrix number, "Voodoo Chile," brought the show to an appropriate climax with a forceful, exotic solo. Vaughan finished the song bending over his guitar as it howled with feedback, and an enlightened audience roared in approval.

Malcolm Lowe

Malcolm Lowe, concertmaster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will be the featured soloist when Indian Hill Chamber Orchestra presents a program of music by Jean Sibelius, plus a commissioned work composed by Joyce Mekeel, at Durgin Concert Hall, South Campus, on Sunday evening, May 1st, at 7:30 p.m.

Lowe will be featured in the Sibelius "Violin Concerto in d minor." Lowe was appointed BSO concertmaster in 1984. As the BSO's First Violinist he also performs with the Boston Symphony Chamber Players, and is a member of the Tanglewood Music Center faculty. The orchestra will also perform "Valse Triste" and "En Saga (A Legend)," both by Sibelius.

Joyce Mekeel has taught orchestration, composition, theory, and contemporary techniques at New England Conservatory and Boston University, where she is currently Associate Professor. She has received over a dozen commissions to compose new works. Mekeel has named the work which she composed for Indian Hill "Quilt," which, she explains, "is not constructed linearly in the sense of developing variation, but by series of juxtapositions in time." This commission was funded by a New Works Grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and the Humanities, a state agency.

Indian Hill Chamber Orchestra is conducted and directed by Paul Gay, Associate Professor at the College of Music. The May 1st concert is co-sponsored by Indian Hill Arts of Littleton MA, and ULowell's Center for the Performing and Visual Arts. Tickets are $3.00 for ULowell students with I.D., $5.00 for faculty and staff. Tickets can be purchased from the MENC office in Durgin Hall, room 311, open Monday 9:00 to 2:00, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday 10:00 to 11:00, and on Wednesday from 1:00 to 2:00. Also by calling Jeanne Masterman at 692-8416, or Mary Pugh at 452-8598. ULowell discounts will be available at the door.

Quiet day for women

Reflection on "Fire-Woman"?

Are you a "fire-woman"? The following questions might help you come closer to the fire in your life: What different forms does fire take? What are your usual (or perhaps unusual) contacts with fire? What are the properties of fire? What is it like to have too much fire? What is it like to have too little fire? How would a woman whose fire-nature is in play handle problems?

A woman in touch with her fire-nature is one with a well-developed intuition. "Fieryness" is that part of ourselves that is about our spirit-lives, about our inner sparks. All ULowell women (students, faculty, staff, friends) are invited on a retreat at which we will pay attention to and nourish this part of ourselves. Taking the Legend of St. Barbara as our starting place (from Betsy Caprio's book, The Woman Sealed in the Tower), we will explore the element of fire, the ego function of intuition, and the image of the shekinah. Ritual, reflection, faith-sharing, and drawing will be vehicles for our exploration.

Campus ministers Imogene Stulken and Pat Davison will conduct this fourth in a series of "Quiet Days of Prayer for Women" on Saturday, May 7th, in Preston Hall on the West Campus. The day will begin at 9:00 a.m. and conclude by 3:30 p.m. Lunch will be provided. To get more information, to ask about transportation and/or to make a reservation, contact either Pat (454-0151, 452-5000 x2464) or Imogene (454-0683).

Italian Club

The Italian Club has recently purchased three videos that are available for viewing for interested students. The first is "The Damned" by Visconti. This video, which was first shown March 24th, deals with the corruption of the Bourgeoisie during the rise of the Nazi Regime.

"Sotto-Sotto", which was shown April 14th, is by Wert Mueller, and depicts the life of the Italian underground as far as social and individual morals are concerned.

The final video, "Ossesinore", is the first neo-realistic film by DeSica. It has a plot similar to "The Postman Always Rings Twice" and was censored by the Fascists when it was first released. This final video will be shown May 5th in conjunction with the annual Italian Club dinner at the International Institute on High Street in downtown Lowell. For more information about these or other Italian Club activities interested students should contact Dr. Aste in Coburn Hall.

COLLEGE STUDENTS AND TEACHERS:

Were you happy with last year's summer job? Was it dull and uninteresting work? Was the money just ok? But...Did you not learn anything for your future? Does it look good on your resume?

We had 2 college students who last year made between $1700.00 and $2500.00 in just 30 days working in sales with no previous experience. Ask them what they learned and earned and how exciting it was. A local division of the Scott Fetzer Co. is looking for more people like them! These college students and a representative will be available to answer any questions and set up interviews at...

Personal fulfillment

Are you a warm, caring, compassionate person who would really like to make a difference in someone's life? Why not spend a little time building a special friendship with a mentally retarded person? The Mental Health Association of Greater Lowell is looking for advocates to provide social and emotional support for mentally retarded adults in a community setting. Just spending a couple of hours, twice a month, with a client doing everyday things, would be a great benefit for any of our clients. We are also looking for advocates to provide group activities; any talent or interest you might have could be used to enrich the lives of our clients by providing them with new experiences.

If you have a little time to spare and would like to gain personal fulfillment through a special new friendship, please volunteer as an advocate. If you are interested or would like more information, please call: Douglas Prime, Advocacy Association of Greater Lowell, 957-0952.

Big Money

By Margaret Smith

Editor

Last week, Governor Michael Dukakis had good news for ULowell and Middlesex Community College. With all the enthusiasm he could muster, Dukakis said he would like to see legislation passed "this spring" for $123 million to spend on the expansion of both schools, saying that it is "one of our top priorities." Interesting, in the light of the facts that 1) ULowell has recently been mandated a budget cut as part of balancing the state's annual budget; 2) almost certain substantial tuition increase next year and 3) Dukakis' last visit to ULowell in February quickly degenerated into a mini presidential campaign stop, and his only message to students was that he hoped they would vote for him.

Doubtless, the Governor will probably use this sudden outburst of concern as part of the nebulous thing called the Massachusetts Miracle that he is now preaching to the country.

The disheveled SUNY school system in New York State could have looked on Dukakis' funding endorsement with much approval.

Of course, we should, too. But as the Lowell Sun stated last Wednesday, the legislation will need more than a token phone call from Dukakis if it is ever to become a reality. Let us see some genuine action on the Governor's part by urging serious lobbying on this legislation, just as he did for his Universal Health Care Bill. Hopefully, Dukakis will not fall back on the support the bill already has from the Regents Board of Higher Education- the same people who in March proposed a staggering 50 per cent state tuition increase over the next five years.

Should the legislation pass this spring, there remains the question of exactly where this money is going. Dukakis says vaguely that the money is for "expansion", which could mean anything. The Sun harped that the money should go to the areas of engineering and computer science, so as to revitalize the economy- in other words, the funding's sole purpose should go towards cranking more students out into the work force as soon as possible and stop burdening tax payers with having to subsidize their tuition. Perhaps the Sun and everyone else who supports the legislation should realize that $123 million dollars is a drop in the bucket in improvements for two colleges. It is not money that should be splurged in a few remote areas, but should be used for overall improvements across the board.

Letters to the Editor:

Paul speaks up

I would like to address the allegations and insinuations in the article in April 4th Connector.

I would like to point out that the Finance Committee never appropriates funds. The purpose of the Finance Committee is to review funding requests and make recommendations to the Senate. All appropriations of funding, are entirely the Senate's responsibility. To imply that I misappropriated or "allegedly misappropriated" funds is extremely uncalled for and entirely false.

When the Finance Committee passed the initial allocation for the Economics Club, Fincomm was merely approving a request the Activity Commission had approved unanimously the night before. If the Activity Commission had not passed the initial club allocation of $435.00 (10-0-1) the Finance Committee would have found it inappropriate to approve the Economics Club's initial allocation.

In response to the statement that... "The Economics club allocation of over $200 more than other beginning clubs receive..." I would like to strongly point out that it is absolutely not true that Fincomm violated any regulation prohibiting new clubs from receiving a maximum dollar amount. No where is it written, in any bylaw of any committee, or memo sent to the Finance Committee or the Treasurer, that new clubs not receive more than $200 as a first time allocation.

In response to the allegation that I allowed Tom Winston to be credited with making a motion when he wasn't in attendance, the Fincomm minutes, taken in my handwriting (on display in Fox 412), show that no motion was ever listed as being made or seconded by Tom Winston. Any statement implying that I cited Tom Winston with making or seconding a motion is false.

In answer to the charges that there was a conflict of interest within the Finance Committee (two voting Fincomm members are also on the Eco-club Executive board), no policy has ever been suggested or adopted stating that Fincomm members involved with clubs abstain from voting. Due to the fact that club appropriations go through two committees and are finally voted upon by the entire Senate, I found it totally unnecessary to suggest that certain members of the Finance Committee abstain from voting. There are simply too many checks and balances (7) acting to prevent any type of misappropriation.

With the above said, I would like to acknowledge the fact that I showed extremely poor judgement and made a serious mistake when I marked two Fincomm members present for the entire meeting. In the first case, Tom Winston showed up a few minutes late and asked to be excused from the meeting in order to take part in a residence life contest. Since this was Tom's first meeting as a member of Fincomm, I decided to mark him present for the meeting.

In the second case, Paula Ming arrived to Fincomm just prior to the meeting's adjournment. However, since she made an effort to attend the meeting, I included her as voting for all motions made, thus allowing her to get credit for being present for the entire meeting. (Better judgement would have led me to mark her present for the meeting but only include her in the adjournment vote.) After the meeting was adjourned, the minutes lie open for everyone to view. Since no member of the Finance Committee cared to review the minutes, they were regarded by me as meeting the approval of everyone present, and weren't given another thought.

I sincerely apologize for my poor judgement concerning the way I handled the attendance at this Fincomm meeting. If I have offended or injured anyone by these actions, I extend my deepest regret. I would like to point out, however, that although these actions were definitely outside the policy for taking attendance within the S.G.A., these actions were in no way malicious or performed with malintent.

As of the time this article was written, no actions were ever taken regarding possible impeachment proceedings. Impeachment proceedings are initiated by a letter to the Senate from the Student Court, or by motions made by concerned Senators. I consider it grossly inaccurate to imply or suggest that steps were taken to impeach me from the office of Treasurer.

Robert Paul
SGA Treasurer

&!?!& Parking ?

I am a somewhat disgruntled student at the wonderful U of Lowell. "Disgruntled ?" you ask? Well, to tell you the truth, that is a mild description of how I feel right now. Every morning when I get up for class, I step outside my door and find myself surrounded by an endless sea of poor excuses for automobiles, owned by my dear friends, the commuters. Now mind you, I hold no animosity toward my fellow students, but I draw the line when the parking lot at my apartment building is jammed full of non-residents. Yet, I find it hard to stay mad, because it is not their fault that there is no parking at this school. The blame lies in the hands of those individuals who came up with the, dare I say, brilliant idea of simultaneously building additional residence halls while taking away student parking. This concept is at best, strange, at worst, one of the craziest ideas that I have ever heard. Parking at this school has always been a problem, but now it is unbearable. A better solution would have been to address the parking problem first, by either building a garage, or by obtaining more land for a new parking lot. Perhaps something can be done about this problem, but until then, all students will have to suffer from the administration's apparent lack of foresight.

Rob Meffan

Karate club information

- The NECKC Beach Party is being held Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24 at Cape Cod. Anyone interested in attending should see a club officer for information.
- Spring Carnival is Friday, April 29. We need volunteers to help us set up, run, and break down our booth. Anyone interested in helping should see Wendy Johnson by Wednesday, April 27.
- Results of the NECKC Invitational Tournament will be in next weeks issue of the Connector. Information regarding promotions will also be included.
- As always, new members are welcome. Information regarding the Karate Club can be found at North SIC box 172, Fox 528, or by stopping by Mahoney Gym on Mondays, or Wednesdays between 6-8 pm.

The Lady Chiefs go outdoors

The Lady Chiefs opened their outdoor season with a warm-up meet at Fitchburg State. Although the weather was chilly, the Chiefs were hot with three first place finishes. Mary Beth McKinny blazed to an ECAC qualifying time in the 200m dash, winning the that event. Jane Seebruch and Joanne Rudolph placed 1-2 in the triple jump; where Rudolph established a new personal record with a 32'1" leap. Kris Noble showed her winning style in the 1500 meter run, along with Martha Flynn. Lowell was represented in the 800m by Jean Demeo, and in the 100m hurdles, by Joanne Rudolph.

The Chiefs returned to Fitchburg on April 9th to compete in the Fitchburg Invitational. A personal best was turned in by Kris Noble in the 1500m run. Her time of 5:11 beat her previous best by 9 seconds, and gave her a sixth place finish in the event. First place points were racked up by Mary Beth McKinny in the 200m dash (27.4), Jane Seebruch in the triple jump (35'4.75") and 400m (69.1). Joanne Rudolph rounded out the scoring with a third place effort in the 100m hurdles (17.7), and a 6th place in the triple jump (30'10"). Sarah Axtman ran the 400 meter dash (65.7).

Future competition will feature the Chiefs competing in the ECAC division meet at Springfield on April 23, at Fitchburg for the women's invitational on May 1, the women's New England Championships at Northeastern on May 7, and the NCAA Division II championships in Texas from the 18th to the 21st of May.

Goal-setting: A necessary accomplishment before the job search

Finding an answer to the question, "What do I really want in a career?" is one of the hardest parts of making a successful transition from college to career. Most college seniors are uninformed about career possibilities and with the topic usually a complex, anxiety-provoking one, it is left unattended.

It is only after several false starts on the career objective part of the resume—or noting that the employers coming to campus want candidates to clearly state career goals—that the need for some self-assessment, planning, and a career goal, is felt.

Research is Key

As you interview with employers, all your communication, both written and verbal, needs to focus first on understanding and then clearly articulating how your qualities benefit the employer. These accomplishments require some hard thinking and doing. As you get more involved in your job search, your goals will become refined because "career knowledge" increases.

Researching information about YOURSELF including your interests, skills, and values, is vital in considering and in setting a tentative career goal.

beyond the college major that determine your first job.

Job titles also vary considerably from employer to employer in scope, responsibility and function. In fact, understanding job functions is the best place to start in career goal-setting. Looking at job functions—what you actually do in a job, i.e. work tasks and responsibilities—will enable you to compare career possibilities. Most importantly, job functions are described with action verbs enabling you to picture yourself performing the tasks.

Job Functions and Other Considerations

One of the more confusing aspects of understanding employers as part of goal-setting is determining the relationship between job title, job function, work environment, and industry. People often mistakenly use these terms interchangeably.

Job title refers to the actual position name used by the employing organization to label a specific job. For example, systems engineer, tax accountant, manufacturing trainee.

Job functions describe the activities or tasks the person in the job does on a day-to-day basis. For example, a tax accountant prepares financial records, balances

Even if you've always known your general career path, you will now need to get "employer and job specific" to make the maximum impact during your job search. Your placement office is well equipped to help you define your career goals.

College Majors, Job Titles, Functions

One stumbling block is trying to draw too close a connection between your major and future jobs. Computer science majors may work as systems designers, but so may math, chemistry and liberal arts majors. There are a number of factors also refers to where the work tasks are performed—a private office, the "floor" of a manufacturing plant, in client offices, or "on the road."

Industry is a term describing a series of related products or services that make up a portion of the overall economy. The elec-company ledgers, and examines cost accounting procedures at client companies. Job functions also define the kind of problem-solving and communications between co-workers/supervisors which characterize the job.

Work environment refers to the type of organization where the work takes place. In the example being used, a tax accountant could perform the previous functions in a large public accounting firm, a small privately-owned agency, a large or small company, multi-department organization or a small, growing firm. Work environment includes electronics industry, financial services industry, petroleum industry, or manufacturing industry are typical examples. It is important to understand that a person can often perform the same work, have the same job title and the same work

Cast Close-ups

A profile of the ULowell Players

Kathy Connery

Chris Connel

Hello drama fanatics, here's more inside, behind the scenes, back stage and casting couch news about your favorite theater organization, the ULowell Players. As promised I am highlighting our club and cast members.

Kathy Connery

Our first and most prized possession is Katherine Connery. Kathy has been with us since the club was re-activated three years ago. As a matter of fact she started the whole thing (what a light bulb that must have been). But she is more than just a person who comes up with great ideas, she is a person who instills great ideas and inspires us to do more for the club. Since Kathy was elected President of the ULowell Players in 1986, she has united a once disorganized but enthusiastic club. As an English major she has added her knowledge of the theater and her acting abilities to our productions. She assisted in our first production, "After Dinner Conversation" and directed "Agamemnon" in our outdoor production for last summers Lowell Greek Festival. She played Elizabeth Proctor in "The Crucible" and was Dotty in last fall's production of "Amusement". Next Kathy will portray the step-daughter in "Six Characters in Search of an Author".

Chris Connel

The other co-founder of the ULowell Players is Chris Connel. He, along with Kathy made the Players a reality. His ideals and imagination made him the likely choice to become our first president back in 1985. Since then Chris has proved to be one of the clubs finest actors. Chris made his debut in "After Dinner Conversation", and like a fine wine has gotten better with age. Last year he proved with his performance in the two-person comedy "Jerry Finnegan's Sister". Chris is on sabbatical from school as a result of acquiring the lead in the Worcester Foothills Theater production of "Biloxi Blues" earlier this semester. But Chris hasn't forgotten his roots and he is back with us once again this season portraying the father in "Six Characters in Search of an Author".

Greg Menafo

One of our original members of the ULowell Players and still a very active force is Greg Menafo. Greg started with the players in our very first production of "After Dinner Conversation". Greg has shown great acting ability for a Biology major and has always had major roles in all our productions. But Greg is not one to limit himself to just one facet of the club so, he was elected our vice president in 1986. Though he has contributed to the club in an organizational manner, Greg has added much more to our little group by always being there to lend a helping hand no matter what the task. Greg has acted in our productions of "Home at Six" and "The Crucible". This season he portrays the leading man in "Six Characters in Search of an Author".

Stay tuned for my next installment of in the Connector. Until then keep your eyes on the stars and one hand on your wallet.

ULowell Players its not just a club it's an adventure!

environment in different industries. Some industries, of course, have more of some job titles, functions and environments, e.g., the petroleum industry would employ more chemical engineers than the transportation industry. Industry may also be important to you if you have a special interest in certain types of products or services, e.g., jet engines, transportation issues, agriculture, etc.

Job titles, functions, environments and industries provide a structure for viewing careers in an organized way.

Formulating a Career Goal

Putting all the pieces of a first job or career goal together generally requires assistance. The accompanying GOAL-SETTING WORKSHEET will get you started but don't hesitate to seek assistance from placement staff. A well thought-out and stated "beginning goal" will be an invaluable foundation on which to build the rest of your successful job search.

GOAL-SETTING WORK SHEET

A. Consider major career functions. B. Preferred work functions in a job. C. Salary needs (consider housing, life style, geography, loans, transportation, salary, goals, etc.). D. Job titles being considered. Beginning career/job goal statement. Sample: Desire to be involved in high technology problem-solving and designing new systems in the communications industry. Want to use computer science training specifically in circuitry design on communication systems for cities. Writing abilities will also be used in areas like proposal writing for corporate magazines and news services for public education. A year round, warm climate is mandatory. Have average to above average salary needs with several loans (car, college) to pay. Will need 22,500 annual salary. Want to be a part of a small, growing business with opportunity for future management and policy setting. E. Geography (City, rural, state, mobility, near home, climate, etc.) F. Work environment (size of organization, co-workers, physical facilities, etc.) G. Special needs (e.g. training, management development, upward mobility, flexibility to move within a company, entrepreneurial opportunity, etc.). H. Industry (manufacturing, government, communications, high tech, etc.) or products, services, ideas or issues with which you want to work.

Rules and Regulations for Carny

In order to cut down on the vandalism and personal injuries associated with 'warm-up' for Spring Carnival, the following policies will be in effect in the dorms from Thursday, April 28 through Saturday, April 30. Each dormitory will be assigned a security officer, either UNIVERSITY OFFICERS or LOWELL POLICE. The officer is there to protect lives and property. PLEASE COOPERATE WITH HIM. If you are asked to identify yourself by security personnel or dorm staff, please do so immediately. If your I.D. card is taken for misconduct and turned into Dean King's Office, your dorm room reservation for September will be CANCELLED. If you are a Senior you will not be allowed to remain in Residence during Senior Week AND OTHER PENALTIES MAY BE IMPOSED AS WELL. Each dorm resident is allowed only TWO GUESTS who must be signed in before 11:00 p.m. No guests will be allowed to stay overnight if they are not signed in before 11:00 p.m. Please instruct your visitors to remain with you. YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR

YOUR GUESTS.

The check-in procedure in effect on weekends will also be in effect starting Thursday evenings at 7:00 p.m.

We sincerely hope you have a good time at Spring Carnival and the 'warm-up' events on Thursday. These measures are necessary to protect you and the dorms. Thanks for your cooperation in this matter.

The following security measures will be in effect from 3:00 p.m. Thursday through Friday:

A. DORM STAFF - THURS-

DAY AND FRIDAY:

1. Duty extended 7:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m.
  2. Number of Counselors on duty will be increased.
  3. All staff are requested to be present in their dorms.
  4. Rounds will be every 30 minutes.
  5. NO KEGS, NO BEER-BALLS will be allowed.
- B. CAMPUS SECURITY/LOWELL POLICE
1. Duty begins at 7:00 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at 7:00 a.m.
  2. Officers assigned to:

- |                |              |
|----------------|--------------|
| A. Leitch      | B. Bourgeois |
| C. Fox         | D. Concordia |
| E. Smith/Eames |              |
3. Officers to patrol continuously and be highly visible.
  4. Allow NO public drinking on lawns, overhangs, stairways, bathrooms, and halls. Leitch, Bourgeois and Fox overhangs are OFF LIMITS.

WHAT'RE YOU WATCHING?

JUST SOME COMEDY-TYPE SHOW. IT'S PRETTY FUNNY IN A CYNICAL SORT OF WAY.

BUT WHY IS THE TV ON ITS SIDE?

Y'SEE, THE SHOW'S BEING BROADCAST SIDEWAYS AND THE ONLY WAY TO WATCH IT IS TO TURN IT ON ITS SIDE

HUH? WELL THEN WHY BOTHER? YOU MIGHT WRECK THE TV OR SOMETHING! THERE ARE PLENTY OF OTHER SHOWS TO WATCH!

MAYBE THIS IS WORTH WATCHING! I'D NEVER KNOW IF I DIDN'T MAKE AN EFFORT!

WHY DO YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO MAKE A BIG DEAL OUT OF EVERYTHING? HERE, HEAR ME FIX THE TV SO WE CAN WATCH A REGULAR SHOW!

Personals

To all Personals Page User: This is just a reminder that in order for your personal to be published, it must conform to the following specifications: 1) Typed; 2) On a 3x5 index card; 3) First and last name and box number on the back; 4) Only one personal per card; 5) I reserve the right to edit as I see fit; 6) Limit of three personals per name and box number; 7) In the Connector office by 5:00pm the Monday before publication. The Typesetter

Tu Maria in C309: Are you ready for your surprise? We are! W

To the gentleman in the north mailroom last Thursday when the paper came out: What do you mean, "I don't like this Typesetter"? The Typesetter hasn't changed since the character was introduced. What gives? The Typesetter

To Hagar: Hope you enjoy Maria's presents!!!

To Maria: Happy 21st birthday. The planning is over, let the party begin! When the party begins is for us to know and you to find out. Love, Laureen

To all those not yet 21: Here is another buyer for you. Come to C309

To JT No.6: I've been watching you in O'Leary Library. Love that back view. Love, Your Admirer

Maria in C309: Happy 21st. Now we can hit all the bars together. Congratulations! Love, Lynn

Maria in C309: Try lots of exotic drinks on your 21st birthday. In about 25 days, I'll be joining you. Love, Kathy

Dawn— I know that you read the personals so I thought I'd say hi! Call me sometime. Paul and Danny miss ya!!! -Patty

Maria: Happy Birthday Kiddo, or should you be calling me that? It will be only about 8 months until I can join you legally. Enjoy your night, somehow I know you will. Happy 21st! Love, the youngest of the 5

Don't worry Maria, you won't be too embarrassed, but your 21st birthday will be something you'll never forget! Love, LTKL

Happy Birthday Gonclaves!! Love, Guarente

To (my personalized) Print: It has been pretty hard to set a date and tear you away from your friendly mate. But if you would like it, I'll have it my way April 22nd, this coming Friday. Your PAW

Hotwheels: Oooh! You know how to throw a bachelor party for "real" men!! Can we know you? -B.C.I.E.

Bob, Keep it up and you will get it "right in the F-O-R-E-h-e-a-d!!!" P.S. Did you apologize to Spiros yet for puking in his car? -B.C.I.E.

Amy- I never thought I'd enjoy lectures....I think the backgammon board likes me...The train ride seemed short and the day warm...my favorite things? They include you! Dave

374 FZC: Sentras are fun, but Volvos are better. Warm water is great when we're together. P.S. Eyes say what adjectives can't. 485 NSA

Paul Amato: Remember two weeks ago, you borrowed my watch at the soccer game? Well, I almost left without it just so I could see you again!!! (Somewhere other than the gym!!) You know who I am!!!

-The Soccer Player

Yo, Punster: Did you hear about the minor league ballgame out in farm country? A ball hit down the right field line was caught up to and eaten by a pig that had crawled under the fence. The umpires conferred and ruled it an "in the pork" homerun

Coach McGowan and Wife: Congratulations on your new baby girl. -The Soccer Team

SWF looking for six to eight fun-loving SWMs to enjoy a party in my room. Please reply in person to the 15th Floor Junior Tonight!!!

I can't believe it, a real Spring Carnival!!! Those of you who haven't yet experienced a Carnival are in for an experience (watch it rain!).

notnAP— I am terribly sorry to inform you that all threats (offers) of grave bodily injury and great pain were forfeited by you when you decided to reply to my latest submission. But I think I would like to see you cruise to the outer reaches of the Galaxy on less than 15 Antarian dollars a day. Even the most accomplished hitchhikers require almost 30 Altairian dollars a day, and, to the best of my knowledge, there's not that great a difference between the economic standing of an Altairian dollar and an Antarian Dollar. -15th Floor Junior

Mary on 15 — I heard about the Softball game last Thursday. Congratulations!!!! Here's to Scaramento!!! Good luck!! -15th Floor Junior

Skeme— I don't believe it!! You shattered my bopper!! What will I do now? I sure hope you feel better, now that you came into my room and started to destroy my property. You really owe me now!!! -15th Floor Junior Attention all Red Sox Fans: To hear the latest news about your favorite team, call toll free, 1-800-CALL-YAZ. You will get up-to-date reports on the players, the games, the competition. Call today!

I just read that new book by the New York psychologist. He says that many of his patients are models. He finds that most of them have turned into mannequin-depressives. The Punster

My roommate walked up to her boyfriend and said, "I'm lonely," while pointing to a button on her shirt which proclaimed, "Kiss me, I'm Irish." "I'm hungry" was his reply. "Quiche me, I'm French." -The Punster

The Typesetter — It's probably still tired from the last time it ran. Let it slow down and walk for a little while, and when it catches its breath, I'm sure it'll be running just fine.

Above: I found that it wasn't rest that it was lacking, but that it was in desperate need of a transplant. After many hours (and much money), the transplant was complete. Rumour has it that the patient is running very well now, although its bed isn't in the greatest of shape (something about losing a wheel....). The Typesetter

Squirmin' Herman and We-ahd: Just what are you growing in your closet? Fenriz

Devastation, Inc: What's the matter? Did you get lost on your way to the Connector office? You've been awfully quiet lately. One might almost be led to believe that you couldn't take the abuse anymore. -The Punster

The Punster: I'm sure that it's not the abuse that they couldn't take. That means that they must have gotten lost (I know, it's tough to believe, with their collective intellectual power and all...!) The Typesetter

NoMuTT: That time of the month again? That would explain your recent irritability and excommunication from all human beings. So sorry, but don't worry, in a few days it will pass. I promise!!! Schnook

To Sawry (No.88) The girls with the flight jacket and the nicest pair of legs on South Campus: What's your real name?? Blood Donor

Wayne in 1605 (aka "Quick Draw MacGraw"): Oh, what a nite! The score now stands at Us:4 and You:3. Time to catch up! Signed, Dopey and Snow White

Bob/Slash & Scott/Fred (or is it Fred/Scott?): Just for you two/four! Have a good week and watch those leaches Scott- They could be dangerous. The door? Oh, it's shut. Thank you. Love, Kathy

Q—P: I hope you had the guts to pop "the question" last week because if you don't, you know that I will!! Get psyched for "triple death" weekend! HA

Ha: Thanks for everything this semester (actually, this year)! Without you and Surf, I probably would of lost it! (Although sanity is something I've never had much of!) Make sure you have a healthy, happy summer. And you best stay in touch! Q-P

Ed: 3 1/2 hours, huh? So much for the homework that had to be done. It really sucks that the further we get along in school, the less time we have for the things that we enjoy. You know who

KY: Congratulations, another convention survived! Get psyched for the semi and Spring Carnival. MTSND

To a Little (?) Man named Wes/Westy: Hope the test was negative because we missed you in class twice last week. Hope you are feeling better! Love, Your "uncorruptable marketing group" (the sweet and innocent ones) P.S. Watch your language in the library, you're losing your status as a gentleman!!

Above: is that uncorruptable or incorruptable? Just curios. The Typesetter

15th Floor Junior: Will you please post the hours of the waiting room. This might make it possible for people to find you without needing appointments or accidentally running into you at Papas'. -The Catcher

15th Floor Junior— You know that I'll be there! Nothing (not even another A&P exam) could or will keep me away! Promise me one thing though - Make sure that I keep my big mouth shut this time! Thanks, you're a pal! -Schnook

To a Sexy Greek: I miss the dream mobile, but the new one is just around the corner. Can't wait for the first drive!! Forever and a day-Barbie. P.S. I love you!!

Soup: Don't fret about not finding the "real" Wolf. Wolves are very difficult to track and will throw you off the track on any opportunity. If you wish to learn more, write to box 5359 and maybe we can arrange something. From hunter to hunted, "Wolf"

Tandem: Remember, I will be expecting a trip to the Bahamas on my birthday! I know you won't let me down. God knows you've never let me down before. Come to think of it, any place with a hot tube and "orange crush" will be fine. Also, remember you can teach an experienced dog "new tricks." "The Lady in Waiting"

Bill Martin: Thanks for your help. Maybe one day I won't faint at the mention of the word test. You have the patience of a saint. By the way-next time I see you I'll dazzle you with my charm and wit. The Fairy Godmother notnAP: If it's the 15th Floor Junior that can show you new ways of pain and pleasure, maybe you should track her down, you won't have far to go. Until your tense feelings go away, you have a lot, in my opinion, to think about. "The Lady in Waiting"

Spanish Fly: Tu eres razon! Tenemos conversaciones breves pero dicen mucho! El gusto es mio a mirar en sus ojos y llamo "La Mujer Estas Queriendo" Lo siento mi espanol es malisimo. "The Lady in Waiting"

Smitty: No apologies were necessary, I understand. Just please stop embarrassing us in the cafe. Everyone thought that we had started a riot! It's a good thing that I didn't show up last Thursday- I'm not fond of tequila on the floor! Maybe next time! Who knows. -The Catcher

Pooooopy! The grass is growing...why haven't you been grazing???? "C" not I mean "S"

15th Floor Junior- Just what were you doing with that window the other night? You'd better be careful or one of these days you're gonna get "stuck." -A concerned Friend

Johnny-O: If'n youse ever wants to sees th' animal alive again, youse-a gonna lissen to me and lissen up reel good. Youse-a gonna pay the ransom. No cops, and no kweschuns. Be on the look-out for a ransom note

15th Floor Junior: No. From my experience a thin tall British is better and a lot more receptive. All that "German" knows is how to drop bombs! That doesn't really float my boat. Maybe it floats yours though - considering you started an arcade and you have a freshman geek following you around! Just tell me one thing - just how did that "German" learn how to drop 'bombs' while the other had 'no clue'? I can't wait to hear your answer to this one!!! Lisa

Lisa: What?! No attack on my morals this week!?! I'm shocked!!! The Typesetter

Attention Personal Users: With the end of the semester crunch already here for me, I will not be able to guarantee that all personals will get into the last two issues. To greatly increase your chances of getting your personals in, make sure that they are in The Connector office by Saturday morning of the week before publication. Simply slide them under the door. Thanks for your efforts. The Typesetter

Typesetter: I admit my second comment in last weeks personals was not kind, but when I see my close friends being suckered into cults by people who thrive on the innocent and weak, it really bothers me. No Harm

No Harm: If the person refuses to take "No, thank you" for an answer, then I agree with your remarks. But not before a respectful attempt the first time. The Typesetter

Sawry & Yukon: Sorry for Friday night...people aren't supposed to pass out while standing up, are they? Thanx for the ice bucket...I do think we're even though (8:30 am) Next year I'll try moderation. Pilloh

Paula— You may be a hostile bitch, but you're a good person. Thanks for the help in my floundering sea of academic despair. Among other things. Pray for me and maybe I'll pass le francais. May you be safe from the satania killer squirrels. Peppermint Patty

Megahurtz: What happened to dog collar man? Excuse me, would you ask that girl if she's scooping? Yukon

Pilloh: No License...men with two brain cells, what's wrong with her? Finally, Kappa Muck! Just hanging around comatose, huh? It was the mudslides fault...8:30 am phone calls. Yukon

Sawry— Trust your brothers. Rug burns on our faces...hall spins...mu, mu, mum, mu... "Scoggin"...slow & stupid, Yukon

Hopeful Wannabe, If you are my Little Brown Girl then you can answer these questions: What is the orange pumpkin? Where is a good place for a dot besides over one "eye"? What does a brown girl drink to stay brown? What garment sounds like an apology? What about you is "innocent"? What candy resembles a part of your body? What religious figure also helps describe a chicken dinner? Put answers in Connector. Good luck, Little Italy

Newmie and QP: We couldn't have won runner up without you. Next year we'll take first!! Love, those without sleep

Scrambled: Glad to see you still had spirit even though you were under the weather. It meant a lot to us. Love, K and K

Kat and Deb: Next year don't even make room reservations. You'll have more money to drink with

Fetus: There was no doubt that you'd get that award. bonus

Little Brown Girl: What's wrong? I've been reading some of my best poetry to you. I've dropped strong clues to you. But, half my bed is still empty. Aw, c'mon let's make love baby. Little Italy

Alysia: The height was there, the collar was there, all you needed was a leash and a bone. Or did he have one? Love, the humane society

KY: We've worked hard all year, it finally paid off. Next year let's win them all!! Only 12 months to go! MTSND Love Brewin and Suds
